Let Spirits Ride

Black Mountain

Return to the realm.
Towards the flame the once burned through us all.
The rudimentary force of life is shining in your eyes awaiting call.
Carry onwards child and lead me to the womb.
Reborn in nature's arms our freedom will exhume.
Terminate me, melt me with the sky and earthly soil.
A sacrifice into the light in unison resist forever more.
Controlled anatomy has risen from the grave.
Delivered ancient way's reborn in mother's flames.
Let spirits ride
Descend to the waves, electric tides cast upon your shores.
The rudimentary force of life is shining out the gates of heaven's door.
Carry onwards child upon your stainless wings.
Holy caravan we ride the spirit wind.
Let spirits ride.
Return to the realm.
Towards the flame the once burned through us all.
The rudimentary force of life is shining in your eyes awaiting call.
Carry onwards child and lead me to the womb.
Reborn in nature's arms our freedom will exhume
Let spirits ride.
