Stay and Dance

Joe Pug

Don't take everything they say to heart
Don't pick every unkind word apart
It's a brave new world, but some things still hold true
The seasons change and people change their tuneWell they don't know beauty, just the costume
Don't know music, just the volume
Stay and dance with just who brought you
When the lights come up, baby, nothing else remainsSo grab that waiting wheel and set your course
Let the chorus waiver back and forth
It's you alone knows where the greatness lies
So meet their doubtful gazes eye to eyeCause they don't know beauty, just the costume
Don't know music, just the volume
Stay and dance with just who brought you
Stay and dance with just who brought you
Stay and dance with just who brought you
When the lights come up, baby, nothing else remains
When the lights come up, baby, nothing else remains
