

In My Darkest Hours

Sirenia

In my darkest of hours
I yearn for the light my life devours
Winters at hand
In search of a key, a door, an end
Hear my voice inside the void
Nor fear the sound of winter winds around
In my darkest of nights
I yearn for the dawn to bring me alive
How to ascend?
While you hold the key that shield my end
Hear my voice, it's calling on the dawn
Ascend to fall but never to withdraw
Winter nights, I hold them inside
I stand to fall, giving in on life as a whole
Winds of time won't mend my sombre mind
I can't deny that I'm on a closing way down
Morning star, shining from afar
Your radiance diminish every day now
Evening star, you've lost your stalwart
Your skies endark like my mind, my soul and my heart
Come take my hand
And lead me on towards the end
The darkness in me
Devours the strength I craved for all these years
These feelings I have never shown, remain unknown
I really don't know if I'm that strong
These secrets I have held inside through all my life
I guess I'll shield them till I die

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnlyrics.com/>