

Shelter

Joy Oladokun

I'm not asking you to run ahead
Could you try to take a single step How can we move forward, when you're halfway out the door.
So you've made mistakes,
you have regrets.
I don't need you to be perfect,
just promise you'll be honest.
I promise that it's worth the risk.

But I can't make you love me even if I tried
I'm not gonna force you,
you have to decide
I'm asking you to trust me, when I say that I'm not here for the moment I'm in this for life

Yes I know,
I know you've been hurt before
And love the way you love,
oh that I'm sure
But just say the word baby and I'm yours,
I'll be your shelter,
Keep you safe and warm.

We can take it, take it, take it slow Cause it takes time to make this house a home, and clean up a mess those other lovers left Oh, but the past is past So I'm moving on,
no turning back
I promise that I'm honest, there are greater things ahead

But I can't make you love me even if I tried
I'm not gonna force you,
you have to decide
I'm asking you to trust me,
when I say that I'm not here for the moment
I'm in this for life

Yes I know,
I know you've been hurt before
And love the way you love,
oh that I'm sure
But just say the word baby and I'm yours,
I'll be your shelter,
Keep you safe and warm.

And I know it's hard to trust me baby
But I won't do you wrong, no
And when it seems like I'm raging,
You wont have to look to far
I'll be your shelter

Yes I know,
I know you've been hurt before
And love the way you love,
oh that I'm sure
But just say the word baby and I'm yours,
I'll be your shelter,
Keep you safe and warm.

Lyrics Submitted by Anon

Lyrics provided by <https://damnyrics.com/>