Compliment

WellBad

Now I've taken the side
Of a beautiful calm
Can you see this disguise
Fading to a resolve?And there it goes my innocence
While gathering up a compliment
And here I lie with words to swear
There's something more than the world out there
The world out thereHesitation compounds
I've nothing left to sustain
My worries here have allowed
A momentary refrainAnd there it goes my innocence
While gathering up a compliment
And here I lie with words to swear
There's something more than the world out there
The world out thereAnd there it goes my innocence
While gathering up a compliment
And here I lie with words to swear
There's something more than the world out thereAnd there it goes my innocence
While gathering up a compliment
And here I lie with words to swear
There's something more than the world out there
The world out there, the world out there
