

We All Go Back to Where We Belong

R.E.M.

i dreamed what what you were offering imagine lying next to me you should, and your reputation talks i will write our story in my mind write about our dreams and triumphs this might be my "innocence lost" i can taste the ocean on your skin that is where it all began i dreamed that we were elephants out of sight, clouds of dust and woke up thinking we were freeoh oh oh i can taste the ocean on your skin
        that is where it all began
    we all go back to where we belong
    we all go back to where we belong
        this really what you want this really what you wanti can taste the ocean on your skin
        that is where it all began
    we all go back to where we belong
    we all go back to where we belong
        this really what you want
        this really what you want

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>