

Breather

Light Up The Sky

The sun is setting on the first day of my last return.
The life I left behind, I sealed it up and watched it burn.
I can't believe that it has come down to these final days.

My eyes are open wide...

I hope to make it out alive.

My heart is racing, I feel it in my bones.
The storm is raging, I'm breathing in the smoke.

I'm running out of time.

This is a war that can't be won.

I'm losing all control.

So we must break these chains.

And as I stare into the eyes of the enemy there's one thing left to do...

Let's light up the sky.

Fight...

into the gates of hell.

I'm fighting a weakness that once never failed.

And as I see the world around me fall I look to the sky, this is my last goodbye.

My heart is racing, I feel it in my bones.

The storm is raging, I'm breathing in the smoke.

I'm running out of time.

This is a war that can't be won.

I'm losing all control.

So we must break these chains.

I'm getting sick and tired of this.

There's gotta be a way out, defeat the enemy.

I can't get these voices out of my head.

I'm fighting, I'm fighting, my fist strikes like lightning.

My fist strikes like lightning.

This war took my should but I will never break.

With the taste of blood...

I am not the same

Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>