

I Only Want You

Eagles of Death Metal

One, two

One, two, three, four When I feel like you get too close I put you right down

I never really leave, I just slip away

And it's not my purpose to break your spirit

I'm not really interested in what's in your heart

I don't want you to fall in love now, so please don't start I only want you

I only want you

I only want you

I only want you I know that it's terribly cruel but then I like it

Because you tried to love me I just can't stay

And I'm not gonna lie just to spare you feelings

'Cause watching you suffer feels much better to me

I'm about to lay destruction on you

I'm not the lover man that you want me to be

I said, "Well I only want you"

I only want you

I only want you

I only want you Now you see once you get too close I put you right down

I never really leave, I just slip away

But it's not my purpose to break your spirit

I'm not really interested in what's in your heart

But now I have to lay destruction on you

I'm not the lover man that you want me to be

I said, "Well I only want you"

I only want you

I only want you

I only want you

I only want you I only want you

I only want you

I only want you

I only want you I only want you

I only want you

I only want you

I only want you I only want you

I only want you

I only want you

I only want you

I only want you
