

When You Become King

Alana Davis

I don't know when you became king of my dreams
I only know when you go that everything around me falls apart at the seams

I've never known someone so much like me

Yet you're your own and parts of you remain a sweet mysteryAnd I am falling

Falling into a dream

And you you are calling

Calling to be your queenAll the world is a stage when you're around

Everyone's acting their parts but nothing is real like this love that I've found

... with you my babyAnd when you lift me up there's no coming down

I get so high I could float away on a feather like a fairy crown

And I am falling...
