

After Glow

CHVRCHES

All of the black and white
All of the contours
Are laid out before me, now
To leave a trace With all of the light and shame
We take up our own space
I'll find my own way back
Back to the past tense A lifeline to highs and lows
To seeing the bright side
And I should know
We wait for the afterglow
To cover the blind side
And I should know All of the empty thoughts
All of the outlines
Are laid out before us, now
To leave a trace All of your words and mine
They keep returning
I'll find my own way back
Back to the silence A lifeline to highs and lows
To seeing the bright side
And I should know
We wait for the afterglow
To cover the blind side
And I should know I've given up all I can
I've given up all I can
I've given up all I can
I've given up all I can
