Awake

In an

Ocean

Of memories

It's rise

In me

Is sudden

Forced to confront

Drowning

In these

Impressions

Its coming back

So real

So near

So sad

Nothing left

In pleasant cages

Through adolescence

We're out of time

It's closing in

These walls are growing higher and we're

Running out of timeIt had

Always

Been there

A blessing and a curse

Certain

Mistrusts

Alludes

We are powerless

The fire broke out

We were running in the night

The air was thick with anguish

Fear in all its might

Profanity they yelled

At this cry for justice

And as the walls began to crack

They launched the guns at their sons heads
