You Forget

David Kilgour

Give to you only, so you'll believe
And my desire, I'm dead without
You rush and pullHard to forget, it numbs the soul
I need to know, relishes fear
That you wear so well
It leaves me colderHating this thing, I always see
I'm always saying something
I always said, it's not the end of something
I'll stand alone, I never meant to hurt you
I always do, it makes no senseBut you forget, this time it's clear
To you I'm here but
Your love's the same and intent aside
We're night and dayStill you forget how it numbs the soul
I need to know, only with you that I keep myself from all I knowHating this thing, I always see
I'm always saying something
I always said, it's not the end of something
I'll stand alone, I never meant to hurt you
I always do, it makes no sense what I doI never mean
Je sais, je sais
Je sais, je saisI always see, I'm always saying something
I always said, it's not the end
I understand what I did, I never meant to hurt you
I always do, it makes no sense what I do
