

Ghost Prototype II - Deus Ex Machina

Scar Symmetry

And then we found it all
Caged inside a dream
All seeing eye sees afloat
Soon it will see no more For we will not conform
We're ghosts in the machine A holographic world view, existence in display
Where everything must work as one can never break in two
This concept lives forever outside all state control
And ever shedding skin All things new are fought against
Even though their time has come
Stretch and reach to conscious mind
Seek defeat in those who fear For we will not conform
We're ghosts in the machine Each separated droplet seeks to rejoin the sea
The structure of the hologram can never break in two Ways to embrace and enter the oneness of it all
Our ever shedding skin While it's waiting to rise within
Know you'll never conform
While it's rising, for once, for all
Rise on your own Rising just to remind you
The inner sector is where you built this nightmare
Rivers will always flow forth into the ocean
A manifest of silent rhyme, silent rhyme, wordless rhyme And then we found it all
Caged inside a dream
All seeing eye sees afloat
Soon it will see no more All things new are fought against
Even though their time has come
For we will not conform
We're ghosts in the machine Change how you look at all things and what you see will change
Observer and what is observed can never break in two
The quantum revolution never cease to evolve
Forever shedding skin While it's waiting to rise within
Know you'll never conform
While it's rising, for once, for all
Rise on your own

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>