

Broken Heart

Liz McComb

You're hiding from love
You see, you don't need it
But if that were true
You could take it or leave it
Well, you gotta learn to walk
But you're afraid of fallin'
Off the line like a shot
Then it's back to crawling
How can it stop if you won't let it start?
I build it up and you tear it apart
It's so hard to love a girl with a broken heart
I love a girl with a broken heart
You still lickin' your wounds
And girl, you're no stranger
To blood, sweat and tears
And a heart scared from anger
We got a love that you find
Maybe once in a lifetime
But you can't hide
From from a memory of the first time
How can it stop if you won't let it start?
I build it up and you tear it apart
It's so hard to love a girl with a broken heart
I love a girl with a broken heart
How can it stop if you won't let it start?
I build it up and you rip it apart
It's so hard to love a girl with a broken heart
I love a girl with a broken heart

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnlyrics.com/>