In a Broken Dream

Thunder

Everyday I spend my time
Drinking wine
Feeling fine
Waiting here to find a sign
That I can understand
Yes I am

In the days between the hours
Ivory towers
Bloody flowers
Push their heads into the air
I don't care if I ever know
There I go

Don't push your love too far
Your wounds won't leave a scar
Right now is where you are
In a broken dream

On the pad before my eyes
Paper cries
Telling lies
The promises you gave
From the grave
Of a broken heart

In the days between the hours
Ivory towers
Bloody flowers
Push their heads into the air
I don't care if I ever know
There I go

Don't push your love too far
Your wounds won't leave a scar
Right now is where you are
In a broken dream

Did someone bow their head?
Did someone break the bread?

Good people are in bed
Before nine o'clock

Everyday I spend my time
Drinking wine
Feeling fine
Waiting here to find the sign
That I can understand
Yes I am

Don't push your love too far
You know your wounds won't leave a scar
Right now is where you are
