

Love's About to Change My Heart

Donna Summer

I never needed someone
'Cause I always led a life of my own
Never waited for the ring of the phone
Never had anyone here when I got home Love's about to change my heart I'm waiting for the doorbell to chime
When I always lived one day at a time
I thought that I was getting on fine
Never felt I was alone till you change my mind Love's about to change my heart Could a day be so long
I always felt secure and so strong
And all the time as I went along
Never thought I would desire much to belong Love's about to change
Love's about to change my heart Never ever thought the sky was so blue
Never ever thought I'd feel so new
Always thought I'd know what to do
But I guess I wasn't counting on you What did I know
I always felt so much in control
I thought I'd make it all on my own
Never thought I would forget all that I've known Love's about to change
Love's about to change
Love's about to change
Change, change my heart
