

Without You

Brannon

here i go again
trying to start all over i gotta convince this heart now it's really over then i find myself standing inside your memory
and i realize your still a part of me so i confess
everywhere i go
everything i do
just find myself
always thinking of you
every song i sing
every word i breathe
just find myself
always thinking of you
so what am i supposed to do
without you
whisper to myself
the sun will shine tomorrow i got to believe somehow faith could steal and borrow then our song comes on the radio of when we used to be
and remembering this all too much for me so i'll admit
everyday i wake
every move i make
just find myself always thinking of you
every night i lay
as i kneel and pray
just find myself always thinking of you
so what am i supposed to do without you then our song comes on the radio of when we used to be
and remembering, remembering this all too much for me everywhere i go
everything i do
just find myself
always thinking of you
every song i sing

every word i breathe
just find myself
always thinking of you
every night i lay
as i kneel and pray
just find myself
always thinking of you
so what am i supposed to do
without you
so what am i supposed to do
without you

Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by <https://damnllyrics.com/>