Strong Enough to Take the Fall

Danny Gruff

This is for the times,
you let me down.
The tell-tale signs,
that you fooled around.

This is for the nights,
Spent in the dark.
The web of lies,
Spun from the start.

Cut down when I caught my stride,
Now I've gotta learn to let go.
A sycophant in your own sweet time,
But I think you should know.
I'm strong enough to take the fall.
I'm strong enough to take the fall.

This is for the faults,
You put on me.
I swallowed up my pride,
So I couldn't breathe.

Cut down when I caught my stride,
Now I've gotta learn to let go.
A sycophant in your own sweet time,
But I think you should know.
I'm strong enough to take the fall.
I'm strong enough to take the fall.

Take me back, take me back,
To the time that I didn't know you
Take me back to a time
When all the lies I didn't know where true.

I didn't want a battle
But you got a war,
I settled for a little,
When I deserve more.

Cut down when I caught my stride,

Now I've gotta learn to let go.
A sycophant in your own sweet time,
But I think you should know.
I'm strong enough to take the fall.
I'm strong enough to take the fall.

Lyrics Submitted by Joey

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/