In the Wind

Lord Huron

You've been gone for a long, long time.
You've been in the wind, you've been on my mind.
You are the purest soul I've ever known in my life.
Take your time, let the rivers guide you in
You know where you can find me again
I'll be waiting here 'till the stars fall out of the sky.

When you left I was far too young...to know you're worth more than the moon and the sun.
You are still alive when I look to the sky in the night.
I would wait for a thousand years,
I would sit right here by the lake my dear,
You just let me know if you're coming home
and I'll wait for you.

Years have gone but the pain is the same,
I have passed my days by the sound of your name.
Well they say that you're gone and that I should move on,
I wonder "How do they know?" Baby Oooh.
Death is a wall but it can't be the end.
You were my protector, you were my best friend.
Well they say that you're gone and that I should move on,
I wonder "How do they know?" Baby Oooh.
Well they don't.
How do they know?
Well they don't.

Lyrics submitted by Hav S.

Lyrics provided by
https://damnlyrics.com/