Don't Drink The Water

Colin Hay

This a religion, no, this is a drag
That man over there is smoking sweet cigarettes
Hey look at that fag
I had a dream, I saw you swim
Sink to your grave
Down to Davy Jone's locker
Under the waves
Don't say, "Thank God for simple thruths"
Take me to your leader, take me for a ride
The shutters were never open
Days I used to hide
All of the things, I never knew
I should have said
When you looked like Frida Kahlo
Curled up in bed
Don't say, "Thank God for simple thruths"
Don't drink the water, baby
Don't drink the water, baby
So much emotion, these eyes a strange kind of blue
Deep as the ocean, they named a sea after you
Don't say, "Thank God for simple truths"
Don't drink the water, baby
Don't drink the water, baby
Don't drink the water, baby
(Don't drink the water, baby)
Don't drink the water, baby
(Don't drink the water, baby)
