

Gaze to the North

Eleventh He Reaches London

All I'd want from God, is kiss His red hand
Look in His eyes and spit on His face I've now become, a weight on the scales
A whale to the sea, a ghost to the home I'd want from God, a sleep with no wake
Ironic and true and gaze to the north

Lyrics provided by
<https://damnyrics.com/>