

Ballroom Dancing

Astorian Stigmata

Don't you dare say a word my darling
You still had me at good-bye
Clinging to nothing
So take some time and listen to the silence
And let me know
When you see the light you let go
Cause we're always just

Ballroom dancing to a song that's been over
And you know your six years from sober
But I know how beauty rolls over
When you shine a new light
On it's face - again.

But you'll take these words and you'll twist em right up
Till they fit the story that you want told
And I'll waste my time
Just singing this song
That you won't ever hear
Cause everyone becomes their fears
And it's funny how we wait
We wait for a better life
But we're always just

Ballroom dancing to a song that's been over
And you know your six years from sober
But I know how beauty turns ugly
When you shine a new light
On it's face, again.

---

Lyrics submitted by brooke colson.

Lyrics provided by
<https://damlyrics.com/>