

The Lesson

Highway 55

Yes I'm surprised to see you here.
In my door after all these years.
Did you realize there was a piece of me you forgot to take?
So when you sailed you found a breeze,
You say blew you back to me!
And you know now there's still love left here for us to make!
And now would be such a good time for goodbye.
Cause I know the danger in your bedroom eyes!

Chorus:

Here I go again
Playing the fool by letting you win!
With passion so strong its worth the pain just to get burned!
In my heart I know the truth!
That all roads end with you!
And if you cared for me away from my love you would turn
Cause you'll always be the lesson I just can't learn!

With my heart I ignore my mind.
And though I'm living on borrowed time.
Knowing there's no way that you're ever gonna be true.
With a touch and a kiss you'll leave
But I'll never fall asleep
Without wondering if I laid my last eyes on you.
And its such a lonely feeling inside.
Knowing you're a man who has lost all his pride.

Chorus:

Here I go again.
Playing the fool by letting you win!
With passion so strong its worth the pain just to get burned!
In my heart I know the truth!
That all roads end with you!
And if you cared for me away from my love you would turn
Cause you'll always be the lesson I just can't learn!

Yeah you'll always be the lesson I just can't learn!

Lyrics Submitted by EricaB

Lyrics provided by
<https://damnlyrics.com/>