Happy Baby

Shaye

Standing in line at the grocery store
Reading magazines that say I should want more
There's an old boyfriend, he looks my way
I can't help but smile, I feel great todayLast night's clothes, no make-up
Drinking my coffee from a paper cupIf this is it for me, baby, that's just fine
I'm not looking anymore
For what will make me happy, baby
That's just fine, I'm not looking anymore, anymoreSo many places I'll never see
But here and now is where I'd rather be Too many people searching so hard
But they never look right in their backyardI've made mistakes, that's for sure
Ain't that what your life is for?If this is it for me, baby
That's just fine, I'm not looking anymore
For what will make me happy, baby
That's just fine, I'm not looking anymore(More clothes, more cash, more things, more rings)
These lines upon my face, I'd be a fool to erase (More love, more grace, more place)
'Cause they show my place in this worldIf this is it for me, baby
That's just fine, I'm not looking anymore
For what will make me happy, baby
That's just fine, I'm not looking anymoreIf this is it for me, baby
That's just fine, I'm not looking anymore
For what will make me happy, baby
That's just fine, I'm not looking anymore

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/