Unknown Delight

George Harrison

Darkest deep brown eyes I've seen, angel came into my dream
Like the morning's early light, you freshen all around
And with all the love you bring unknown delight
All the love you bring unknown delight
Sweetest innocence and free, God has given you the key
To the hearts of everyone, that comes in sight of you
And with all the love you bring unknown delight
All the love you bring unknown delight
All the love you bring unknown delight

Who have eyes will clearly see and no one could disagree
A treasure of the world, a child, watching it grow
And with all the love will bring unknown delight
All the love you bring unknown delight, unknown delight
All the love you bring unknown delight
All the love you bring unknown delight
All the love you bring unknown delight, unknown delight
All the love you bring unknown delight

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/