

Sanctuary

Paradise Fears

So go ahead and lie to yourself and pretend that you're a ray of light when you're a broken candle.

You keep in time with yourself. When did it all start moving way too fast for you to handle?

Short on breath, heavy on time you lost the words but you found the rhyme its all-just poetry now.

The walls are singing ?Hallelujah amen?.

The walls are singing ?Hallelujah amen?.

It's so dark in the room and the ceilings are high. You know the feeling you've been here before.

It's a broken old pew and it's an echoing cry.

Don't sell yourself short on breath, heavy on time you lost the words but you found the rhyme it's all just poetry now.

The walls are singing ?Hallelujah amen?.

The walls are singing ?Hallelujah amen?.

?Hallelujah Amen? and the walls are singing ?hallelujah amen?.

See we don't really care who you are. We kind of got this non-exclusive policy of determining exactly who we open up to and let into our family, then who becomes a part of our united mass of harmony.

And that's kind of become the thesis to this song. Through suffering, acceptance, grief, and strife, there's no way that your puzzle piece fits into out puzzle wrong cause everyone is welcome on this stage that we call life.

And we don't really care who you are. Everyone is capable to looking up and wishing on a star.

So catch it so contagious, this daydreamer's disease and hope can be you sword, slaying darkness with belief.

And we don't really care who you are regardless of how lost you are returning form regardless of how far.

So bring me all worst of your broken, bruised, insane because that's the thing with music when it hits you feel no pain.

No matter what you did I promise we forgave it all that's left is your voice you have no choice but to raise it.

All you broken hearts all you dejected dreams just let yourself be free because even broken wings can fly away.

Oh in time you'll find, this life's a painting and you're the artist.

Just open your eyes it's never to late to clear your canvas.

So paint me jealous, paint me rage; for god's sake paint me anything.

Just paint, your brush awaits.

And the walls are singing ?Hallelujah amen?.

Yeah we're all just singing ?hallelujah amen?.

Let your walls keep singing ?Hallelujah amen?.

Oh come on keep singing ?Hallelujah amen?.

The walls are singing ?Hallelujah amen?.

The walls sing you to sleep ?Hallelujah amen?.

One secret meant to keep you safe tonight.

I swear that everything will be all right.

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnyrics.com/>