Yes

Yes, yes

Yes, yes

Yes, yes

Yes, yes Born in the night, she would run like a leopard

That freaks at the sight of a mind close beside herself

And the nearer I came how the country would change

She was using the landscape to hide herself More in the mind than the body this feeling

A sense at the end of a circular line

That is drawn at an angle I see when I'm with you

To navigate waters and finally answer to yes If you were there you would want to be near me

Innocence, you could hold all the materials

And though nothing would really be living

It would shock your fall into landing light In the north sky time flies fast to the morning

The cold of the dawn it meant nothing to us

You were keeping your best situation

An answer to, yes (Yes, yes)

And the moment I see you

(Yes, yes)

It's so good to be near you

(Yes, yes)

And the feeling you give me

(Yes, yes)

Makes me want to be with you

(Yes, yes)

From the moment you tell me, yes If you could see all the roads I have travelled

Towards some unusable last equilibrium

Run like an athlete and die like a dead beaten speed-freak

An answer to all of your answers to yes In the north sky time flies faster than morning

The cold of the dawn it meant nothing to us

You were keeping your best situation

An answer to yes (Yes, yes)

And the moment I see you

(Yes, yes)

It's so good to be near you

(Yes, yes)

And the feeling you give me

(Yes, yes)

Makes me want to be with you (Yes, yes)

If we wait for an answer

(Yes, yes)

Will the silence be broken

(Yes, yes)

Should we wait for an answer

(Yes, yes)

Do we leave it unspoken Yes, yes

Yes, yes

Yes, yes
