

Drowning in Your Tears

The Rembrandts

I see more with my eyes closed, then you'll know, before the day is new
No matter what your lips say-you're a window, which I am looking through
I'm waitin' for the band to play, a song to carry me away[Chorus]
I'm drowning in your tears-do you revel in this pain?
I'm drowning in your tears, they roll down your face like fallin' rain
Now is this all that I live for, or is there a door, which I have not been through?
Can we go on believin', there's a reason, to hold on like we do
Now what else is there I can say, to make your heartache go away?[Chorus] Forever you'll be a part of me, as sure as the air, is ours to breathe
I'm hoping that we will find a way, for us to walk on, our separate way
I'm waiting for the band to play, a song to carry me away[Chorus: x2]

Songwriters

SOLEM, PHIL/WILDE, DANNY C./MASTELOTTO, PATPublished by

Lyrics Â© Warner/Chappell Music, Inc. Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>