

Soul's Road

Gowan

Your compass in hand
Your map to the stars
And no one beside you to say where you're going
Or even how far You try to decide as you stare into space
Then you start spinning your wheels
Waiting for something to call to your wandering heels
That's how it feels Some roads will get you to heaven
Some roads will wear down your shoes
Some roads you know will be hellbound
But there's a road that'll get you through
Love is the soul's road calling you
So where is that road? We're two of a kind
We're stumbling blind
Searching so hard that sometimes it can feel like
We're losing our minds Oh, how many times have we passed in the night
Not knowing the other was there
Then maybe together we'd finally be getting somewhere
Somewhere Some roads will get you to heaven
Some roads will wear down your shoes
Some roads you know will be hellbound
But there's a road that'll get you through
Love is the soul's road calling you So where is that road?
Racing around in a million directions
It's hard to know which way to turn
But suddenly, there she is, just up ahead
When love stands there calling
You go on and follow that road
Follow that road Some roads will get you to heaven
Some roads will wear down your shoes
Some roads you know will be hellbound
But there's a road that'll get you through
Love is the soul's road calling you
Well, love is the soul's road calling you
Love is the soul's road calling you So where is that road?
Where is that road?

Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnyrics.com/>