

No World For Tomorrow

Coheed and Cambria

Wait, there's never been a mess like this
Oh no, more hands to hold
The pain turns tomorrow for her to give up
Curse us as God has, believe me
Hell has no room for your crime, so beat me
Till the blood and the bone finds our end here
Bye, bye world, only our hopes to hold on
And boy, you're never gonna see
Nothing's ever come of me
Raise your hands high, young brothers and sisters
There's a world's worth of work and a need for you
Oh, changes come in through these doors, now closing
Is there no world for tomorrow if we wait for today?
So march to the drumming
Show them you're coming
You've been their prey
Cut to the coming
Leave them to running
Let them take no more
You've been living off their power
Boy, now go and make your move
Curse us, this gods aren't faking
Have mercy on the cowards, boys
The brave to have it lose
Help us, this world's now breaking
So now they've noticed all you've given in sound
Let us in, let us in
Give me love over life the sweets of the ground
Let us in, let us in now
Bye, bye world, only our hopes to hold on
And boy, you're never gonna see
Nothing's gonna come of me
Raise your hands high, young brothers and sisters
There's a world's worth of work and a need for you
Oh, changes come in through these doors, now closing
Is there no world for tomorrow if we wait for today?
So march to the drumming
Show them you're coming
You've been their prey
Cut to the coming
Leave them to running
Let them take no more
In the light we'll sing, as all hurt must bring
In the falling cusp of all broken things
In the calling disk you will call on this and uniting us
Now the crowing dies
You all think you've figured me out, do as I say
Your words mean nothing at all, so now I lay
I say come on, come on, boy, as I lead
I say come on, come on, boy, watch it bleed
What did I do to deserve all of this?
What did I do to deserve all of you?
Raise your hands high, young brothers and sisters
There's a world's worth of work and a need for you
Oh, changes come in through these doors, now closing

Is there no world for tomorrow if we wait for today
Bye, bye world, only our hopes to hold on

Lyrics provided by
<https://damnyrics.com/>