Legacy

Kelly Morrison

If I had a legacy
There's something I'd like for it to be
I'd give every living soul

A piece of the gift you gave to me
Shadows are far too hard to climb
You taught me to step into the light
If I could help someone like me
This would be my legacy
If I had a legacy
There's something I'd like for it to be
I'd cherish the wings of time
With every step I'd taste the wine
Pages in calendars do fade
I'll find the gift in every day
With every dream in me
There will be a legacy
Dreams are the sail that moves the soul
To be much more than we will ever know
If you had a legacy
What would you like for it to be
What will your loved ones say
How will you help them find their way
What are the gifts you'll leave behind the treasures they will find
It's right inside your dreams
And it's your legacy
