Everything With You

Ickest

sitting in my room with a pen and paper tryna write a hook that would match this verse but i'm feeling like i'm getting writers block (because i can't explain how i'm sprung on you) tryna find the right words to explain everything about you that would maintain the definition being presented out the right way, yeah i want to sing about you how you text me at work i want to write about you because you make me smirk i want to play with you on DS games i want to dance with you slow in the rain

i just want to do everything with you i want to do everything with you want to do everything with you
dedicating songs to me is your way of expressing how i make you sway but baby you know its a two player game (when it comes to this love) i know its kinda lame for me to tell you that i wrote this song to sing about you i don't care what anybody thinks because this is how i explain how you make me sway too i want to cruise with you in your car better yet we can battle mario kart maybe even take a stroll at the park while sharing headphones to your ipod

cuz i love you
