

Modern Love Story

Youth of Today

A boy a girl a love story
But why did it end in misery
Taking our chances getting our thrills
Taking and taking but never getting our fill And this is what I see a modern love story
Love defined on our TV
Telling us teaching us what we need
Are we in love or just so alone
That we're looking for anyone to hold? And this is what I see a modern love story
When the prey is caught, the thrill gone
So we'll switch partners and move along
And we won't use our brains
Because our lust is too strong Overlooking the person
To whom the body belongs
And this is what I see
A modern love story
