

Heaven

Jamie Foxx

Tell me, have you heard the story
That took place not long ago?
'Bout an angel up in heaven
They say she up and ran away from home
Word is she had unfinished business
So back on earth she had to flee
Well, you know I'm so elated
Because she's laying right here next to me
And when God woke up that morning
And He called, called out her name
And when she didn't answer
Heaven will never, ever, ever be
Heaven will never be the same
Never be the same
Always dreamed that it would happen
I just didn't know exactly where
All my life I've been waiting for something amazing
Said it took a while, but now I know
So tell me, can I get a witness?
If you believe in miracles
And the proof I have is living
And my life will never, ever be
And your life don't have to be the same
At times it seems we take for granted
How precious life can be
Just hold on and I'm sure you'll understand it
Bringing into this world a precious boy or a girl
And when God woke up that morning
Said, "Where has my little angel gone?"
And when she didn't answer
Heaven will never, ever, ever be
Heaven will never be the same

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnlyrics.com/>