You Can Never Know...

TCP

geez... where the hell am i!
you can never know how your life will go try to remember that you're not the only one stuck on this planet my sonseize... every single day!
here for a moment than off you go again floating in spirit my friendde...light in what you do! you can never know how this life will go will you keep your job... wear the same faade you can never know... how your love will go will you find the one... love until it's done?your conversations... can go on for hours... nothing is said just cold opinion... no ground is given... typically then you relive everything... swallow those ills again... mess up your head how can you sleep... find inner peace... with anger looming there turbulent dreams... stop if you think... somebody cares seek the solution... soul evolution... until you do you won'tare you still there?where are you now!you can never really know how this life will go you can never really know so let it roll... let it roll child and save your rockin soul you can never really know... so let it roll..... child... roll... child roll!can you feel it... can you feel your rockin soul can you see it... can you see what others don't you can never really know how this life will go!
