Kill Your Idols

Verse 1 So we can't work it out, and I don't want to work it out. Fall is coming soon and I'm fine with being alone. Don't want to let you in, already seen where you've been, What's the point of giving in, refuse to say goodbye again. Chorus- It's just another day. There's nothing left to say. I'll watch the falling leaves alone and shed no tears, I look forward to the fall this year. Verse 2 Shorter days and longer nights, you're no longer in my sight. The trees are bare and you're not there for me. (to ruin it with another fight) And as I walk the quiet streets, dead rotting leaves beneath my feet. I'll think about our separate lives, I tried. (But now at least I know I tried). Chorus- It's just another day. There's nothing left to say. I'll watch the falling leaves alone, and shed no tears. I look forward to the fall this year. ending- I'll watch the fire's burn, and breathe the cool night air. And as the fire's burn, you'll know that I don't care. I'll watch the fire's burn, and breathe the cool night air. And as the fire's burn, you'll know that I don't care. you'll know that I don't care., you'll know that I don't care. I know that you don't care.
