The Stranger

Melissa Ferrick

waiting wanting to see you in my eyes finding feelings that I thought were buried inside.because I never thought that I could ever love like this but you have proven me wrong.you the stranger who took a chance held me at a distance so I could see myself. so thank you for everything you gave without knowing and thank you for letting me fall in love without withholding without withholdingso let me in now I am ready to move and here comes fear and resistance from you and for once I am willing and now what ive got to wait?these lessons are everywhere in my life you know I never waited for anyone and I was always right but ya, now I give up I surrender I would wait for you...foreveryou the stranger who took a chance held me at a distance so I could see myself
so thank you for everything you gave without knowing and thank you for letting me fall in love with you without withholding without withholdingso come on and test me go on and try it because I know that I fit perfectly inside you and to deny this love would be to deny your heart and youre going be the one who breaks it baby if you choose to walk!yeah, you the stranger who took a chance held me at a distance so I could see myself
so thank you for everything you gave without knowing
and thank you for letting me fall in love... yeah, you the stranger who took a chance held me at a distance so I could see myself
so thank you for everything you gave without knowing
and thank you for letting me fall in love
without withholding
without withholding.

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/