

Hollow

Casey Stratton, Patric Leonard, Tim Pierce, Brian

It's so quiet walking along the edge
It won't be long now till I forget who I am
I am so afraid to move forward
All the mistakes I've made surround me So I run away, I cannot face
What I'm throwing away
It's just as well, you could always tell
When I was hollow I never asked for this, happy just to breathe
But now what I've done here, means nothing to me
I look inside and I feel so small
I am never good enough to become what you already are
So I run away, I cannot face what I'm throwing away
It's just as well, you could always tell when I was hollow
So once again, I have let you win the game of giving me a voice
The pill has been swallowed, but I am still hollow I look back upon my life
And see what's been denied
And I try to face it
But I can ever seem to erase it
So I run away, I cannot face what I'm throwing away
It's just as well, you could always tell when I was hollow
So once again, I have let you win the game of giving me a voice
The pill has been swallowed, but I am still hollow
