Sure Of The Things

Tangarine

It's true what you feel if you know what I mean
But it's hard to explain it in words
You always need somewhere to go when you're lostWhen you think that you know how to open that door but you're not really sure if it's closedAre you sure of the things that you hope for?
Knowing that some things will fade?
Cause everything changes but hope still remains, tonight
Cause everything changes but hope still remainsWe all have our thoughts that we cannot point out
And it's hard to believe in your view
We always need some kind of truth when we're lostWhen you try to get out of this world full of doubt but still nothing works out like it should
Are you sure of the things that you hope for?
Knowing that some things will fade?
Cause everything changes but hope still remains, tonight
Cause everything changes but hope still remains
Cause everything changes but hope still remains
