

Overburdened

Disturbed

Fate is so unkind, now I should have known
Blind in the light, reaping myself of soul
If it all amounts to nothing

Then why, why then am I standing in this line? Hell is still overburdened

I must stand and wait in line

I may never know for certain

When will be my time? How was I considered evil?

Pleasures taken in this life

Someone granted me reprieve

Decades spent in strife

Led to nothing

Repeat it in my mind

Led to nothing

If only I was born another time? Hell is still overburdened

I must stand and wait in line

Hell is still overburdened

How have I been so determined malign? It's the closing of the curtain

In the play that was my life

Countless chapters left unopened

Tragedies inside

I was fighting for a reason

Holy blessed homicide

Seems I have committed treason

All I've sacrificed

Led to nothing

Repeated in my mind

Led to nothing

If only I was born another time? Hell is still overburdened

I must stand and wait in line

Hell is still overburdened

How have I been so determined malign? Hell is still overburdened

I must stand and wait in line

Hell is still overburdened

How have I been so determined malign? Fate is so unkind, now I should have known

Blind leading the blind, reaping what I've sown

If it all amounts to nothing

Why then am I standing in this line? Hell is still overburdened

I must stand and wait in line

Hell is still overburdened

How have I been so determined malign? Hell is still overburdened

I must stand and wait in line

Hell is still overburdened

How have I been so determined malign?

Lyrics provided by
<https://damnlyrics.com/>