

Rescue

Search The City

im sorry for the temper i let get away from me i said alot of things i didnt really mean you always wore your heart on the outside cause this was just a mess we could never really hide and now im paying for all the mistakes that you made

    this is the rescue, the rescue the reason ive been holding myslef everynight this is where we collide
    this is the rescue, the rescue the reason ive been holding myself everynight
        this is where we collide

and there you go again with all the troubles that you get in its pins and needles we'll start a fire so big the heavens can see it you give going up in flames such a good name
and now im paying for all the mistakes that you made

    this is the rescue, the rescue
    the reason ive been holding my breath everynight
        this is where we collide
    this is the rescue, the rescue the reason ive been holding my breathe everynite
        this is where we collide

    you'll soon become a voice on the other end of the phone where i go, go, go wearing my heart on my sleeve has becom just too messy for me this is the resuce, the rescue

    the reason ive been holding my breath everynight
        this is where we collide
    this is the rescue, the rescue
    the reason ive been holding my breath everynight
        this is where we collide
    this is the rescue, the rescue
    the reason ive been holding my breath everynight
        this is where we collide

this is the rescue, the rescue
this is the rescue, the rescue
this is where we collide

---

Lyrics submitted by carly.

Lyrics provided by <https://damnlyrics.com/>