

Nature

This Day Will Tell

Maybe you should've let fate take you home.
I wanted you to find me desperate and alone.(alone!)
By the time I reach you the world here will be old.
Connection,aggression, never be told.

This is my one shot,my one chance.
So let's give it our all it will only fade away.
You again took it to the heart.
That I wanted to do what I love.

In my life for me.
Baby I bet that this won't last for long.
Cause where you are.(where you are!)
You're so miserable.(miserable!)

Runaway,you'll find me.
If I have a chance it will be.
When you least expect it from me.(from me!)

Understand its not me.
You're looking for and truth be told.
I hate where it's gone,you're gone.

We got each others hopes up just to let them down,
the wind, wisdom,and truth are nowhere to be found.
I'll take back all of my thoughts but rumors start and then there goes this town.
Stirring up a sandstorm just to cut me down,I'm glad we have nothing left to share,everyone,everything is changing,
I left in the hands of father time and you, you took it all to heart.

Baby I bet that this won't last for long.
Cause where you are.(where you are!)
You're so miserable.(miserable!)

Baby I bet that this won't last for long.
Cause where you are.(where you are!)
You're so miserable.(miserable!)

You built the way I was to live.

My life I can't live for you again.
The same thing everyday won't work for me.

Lyrics submitted by Brandon sulak.

Lyrics provided by
<https://damnllyrics.com/>