Crying Ain't Dying

Tracy Lawrence

First he said he loved you
He promised he'd be true
Then he was unfaithful
Word got back to you
Tonight when he came calling
You wouldn't let him in
Now your tears are falling
And you swear they'll never end
But crying ain't dying
Losing ain't forever
It's kind of like the weather
It changes every day
You learned yourself a lesson
'Bout loving and lying
But you will live to love again
'Cause crying ain't dying
Even though he hurt you
He's still the one you want
You're gonna feel this way
Till the day you don't

You can pull the shades down
Grieve what's gone before
But you can't keep tomorrow
From walking through the door
But crying ain't dying
Losing ain't forever
It's kind of like the weather
It changes every day
You learned yourself a lesson
'Bout loving and lying
But you will live to love again
'Cause crying ain't dying
You learned yourself a lesson
'Bout loving and lying
But you will never love again
'Cause crying ain't dying
You will never love again
'Cause crying ain't dying

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/