There'll Come a Day

The Damned

Fear grips your heart and you fight with all your might Into the distant light you keep your vision bright
And the torch of love is a burning flame
It burns so bright it consumes all pain
And while your hand, your head to prey
Fate deals a hand that we all must play(chorus)And when the stars go out
The skies have turned to grey
I'm gonna walk on out
Into a brand new daySchemes and dreams and just a little more
To keep the wolf howling outside your door
And every night, every day
I think I'll go go go and say
That I have to win, I have to try
I have to hold my head up high

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/