

In The Water, I Am Beautiful

City and Colour

And I know it's not to get away from me
You just need a change of scenery
So strange how everything went wrong so fast
And I hope that this confusion does not last 'Cause these words might be too little, too late
And I'm afraid that I have already lost you
Now three months equals eternity and this will be so hard
And I will long to hold you in my arms And when you ask, do you love me
I should reply with, yes, most certainly
I always hesitate, there's something lingering
I will try harder to be all that I can be These words might be too little, too late
An' I'm afraid that I have already lost you
Now three months equals eternity and this will be so hard
And I will long to hold you in my arms

Songwriters

Dallas John Green Published by

EMI APRIL MUSIC, INC. Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnyrics.com/>