Tranquil

Darkest Hour

GoThis decaying flesh is coming back to life Reanimate me, give me a chance And I'll be right here where the sun hits the sea Watching these waves wash the pain awayAnd it will radiate so brilliantly That we can keep pushing on And get on with life 'cause we deserve itNow I know That the worst part is behind us now Onward and upwardWe take flight on bruised and battered wings We soar above our clouded thoughts Never looking back We can regain a sense of balance gone so longThis decaying flesh is coming back to life Reanimate me, give me a chance To reason with the odds to pick myself back up Regain a balance gone so longNow I know That the worst part is behind us now Now I know That we will get on with life 'cause we deserve it
