

The Fight

Eli Young Band

So, this was not how you planned it
And no, oh you don't understand it
Why is it so misleading
When all you really wanted became so defeating
And time, well it only got harder
You thought you had one but it was another
Then you believed in a breakthrough
But it took you by surprise when you came out a fool

You've got to fail a thousand times before you see it through
You've got to spend your last dime before you ever make a million
You've got to know what brought you here
And you've got to lose to persevere
But it's the way the sun will rise through the darkest night
Yeah it's always been worth the fight

Hope, it can make you courageous
It started out small but now it's contagious
Strength, it's an honor you earn
When you look back and see all the lessons you learned

You've got to fail a thousand times before you see it through
You've got to spend your last dime before you ever make a million
You've got to know what brought you here
And you've got to lose to persevere
But it's the way the sun will rise through the darkest night
Yeah it's always been worth the fight

But you've got to fail a thousand times before you see it through
You've got to spend your last dime before you ever make a million
You've got to know what brought you here
And you've got to lose to persevere
But it's the way the sun will rise through the darkest night
Yeah it's always been worth the fight

Yeah it's always been worth the fight

---

Lyrics submitted by Matthew Salinas.

Lyrics provided by
<https://damnyrics.com/>