

End of the Beginning

30 Seconds to Mars

Here we are searching for a sign
Here we are searching for a sign It's the end here today
But I will build a new beginning
Take some time, find a place
And I will start my own religion As the day divides the night
Here we are searching for a sign Watch the men multiply
See them ease out of the circle
Watch your friends run and hide
Help them fall back in this cycle Here we are searching You saw what you get
If you take what you take
Look in the eye of the test
It's all because Now there's a feeling I get
When I look to the left
But it should never be sensed
Start searching for a sign Can you feel it?
Things are changing
Can you see it?
Watch as the worlds colliding Can you see it? Can you feel it?
Watch as the worlds
Collide into themselves
Collide into themselves Another time, another place
Another time, another place
Some paradimensional race
Some paradimensional race Searching You saw what you get
If you take what you take
Look in the eye of the test
It's all because Now there's a feeling I get
When I look to the left
But it should never be sensed
Start searching You saw what you get
If you take what you take
Look in the eye of the test
It's all because Now there's a feeling I get
When I look to the left
But it should never be sensed
Start searching for a sign
