

Through the Dark

Rogue

We're going to make it through the dark
We're going to make it through the dark
We're going to make it through the darkThis road's too long
I can't make it on my own steam
But it won't be long

Once in a while we're allowed to dreamThat we're going to make it through the night
We're going to journey to the light

We're going to make it through the nightWe're going to make it through the dark
And we're going to find out who we are
We're going to make it through the dark
No one can tell us who we are

We're a light that only love can igniteAnd I'm fine with this
I wouldn't have it any other way
'Cause we were made for this

You and me we're gonna fly awayAnd we're going to make it through the night
We're going to journey to the light

We're going to make it through the nightWe're going to make it through the dark
We're going to find out who we are
We're going to make it through the dark
No one can tell us who we are

We're a light that only love can igniteThe sun will rise
The sun will rise
The sun will rise

The sun will riseWe're going to make it through the night
We're going to journey to the light

We're going to make it through the nightWe're going to make it through the dark
We're going to find out who we are
We're going to make it through the dark
No one can tell us who we are

We're a light that only love can igniteWe're a light
