

Forever Changed

T. Graham Brown

Close your eyes and visualize that day in spring the moment that I met you.

From the start down in my heart

I knew for sure I never would forget you. Now I see what I used to be and I'll never be again.

Oh I remain forever changed. You touched my hand and life began

As I stood there starting at an angel.

Time stood still when you revealed

That tender smile to a perfect stranger. Now I see what I used to be and I'll never be again.

Oh I remain forever changed. You took control of a wandering soul and gave his heart a home.

And all that's left of the man I knew

Thanks to you is gone. All these years and you're still here just like a rock standing by and steady.

For what it's worth when I leave this earth because of you I know I will be ready. Now I see what I used to be

Oh and I'll never be again

I remain Yes I remain forever changed

Oh I remain forever changed

Forever changed Now I see what I used to be oh and I'll never be again

I remain yes I remain forever changed

Oh I remain I remain forever changed

Forever changed
